LONG LOST WOMAN FOUND

Letter Written in an Insane Asylum Gives Clue to Missing Woman

MARY MARTIN OF DEERFIELD

After Having Been Missing For Six Years is Found in Asylum at Wauwatosa, Wis.—Is Forty-five Years Old

Six years ago Miss Mary Martin, daughter of a well to do Deerfield farmer, disappeared as though the earth had swallowed her up.

Friday at the Milwaukee hospital for the incurable insane Attorney C. T. Heydecker of Waukegan, and a brother found her, a patient, utterly ignorant of her own identity, and masking under the name of "Mary Williams."

In the years she has been confined in the asylum, afflicted with incurable dementia, she has had only one little flash of intelligence, when she wrote a letter to her sister, Laura Martin, which supplied the clue that resulted in finding her. Friday she denied writing the letter.

Details of the story are remarkable enough to furnish material for a romance of lost identity and the case is one of the very strangest on record.

Six years ago Mary Martin left her home, a farm west of Highland Park, with the determination of seeking work. She said she was going to Chicago to get a job at housework. Her father, Jacob Martin, who owned a large farm, interposed no objection and the girl departed.

That was the last ever heard of her until Friday she was found in the hospital for the incurable afflicted up at Wauwatosa, just outside of Milwaukee.

When they did not hear from the girl, relatives, who include both brothers and sisters at Deerfield, began a systematic search for her, as her father had passed away in her absence and they desired to give her the news. She is not aware of his death to this day.

Attorney C. T. Heydecker of Waukegan, the attorney for the estate, was put in charge of the hunt, and fearing just what had actually happened, relatives with his aid made visits to Kankakee, Elgin and Dunning asylums, among others, while letters were written to sanatoria at Kenosha, Racine and Milwaukee, in vain. There was no trace of the missing girl, and the years rolled on and she was given up for lost.

September 14th brought a message as from the dead, and disappointing and rambling as were its contents, it gave the clue that found the woman in Milwaukee. It was in the shape of a letter addressed to Miss Laura Martin, Deerfield, Lake County, Illinois, and a brother got it at the local postoffice.

Miss Laura Martin, who is a nurse at the Chicago Baptist Hospital, read the letter with amazement. It was rambling, incoherent and evidently the product of a disordered mind, but what gave her joy was the fact that it was signed "Mary Martin," the name of the missing sister.

"They call me Mary Williams here but you know that is not my right name," read the letter.

Thus the mystery was cleared up. The search of the asylums of two states had failed to determine the girl's fate because she had in some insane quirk masqueraded under an assumed name.

Friday Attorney Heydecker and a brother went to Milwaukee where they found the girl. The brother at once recognized her as his missing sister, but she failed to recognize him.

The authorities of the asylum state that she was picked up on the streets demented on the night of September 30, 1903, or five years ago, and has been in the institution ever since.

No one was ever able to get one bit of her personal history out of her and the hospital records remain a blank in regard to Mary Williams, Patient Number 3806. The disposal of the strange case is not yet settled but Miss Martin may now be removed to an Illinois institution where she belongs.

Her people state that there is no insanity in the family and that the girl never showed signs of being unbalanced, which adds to the strangeness of the case.

The girl had had typhoid fever two years before she left home and this may have affected her.

Otherwise the cause of her insanity must forever remain a mystery. The hospital records at Wauwatosa are completed and show no clue to her condition and its cause. The girl is now forty-five years old or so.

THEY DID NOT TRESPASS

Important Decision in Test Case Regarding Control of Lake as Hunting Ground

The first case wherein an effort has been made to prove the power of Riparian rights with regards to controlling the water of a lake to which they apply, came up Tuesday in Grayslake when before Justice Churchill, a jury decided that to be on water which is supposed to be controlled by the owner of adjacent land who may claim the right through having Riparian rights, is not trespass.

The case may be appealed to the higher courts by Frank T. Fowler of Fourth Lake who started cases of trespass against different men whom he charged trespassed on his property—the water—at Fourth Lake. His contention is that, under his title, he has absolute control of the water as well as the surrounding land.

The cases of Rudolph VanHassan and W. W. Little were tried, the former for trespassing on the water and the other for impersonating an officer. Against the latter it was charged that he flashed a star and said he was a game warden when Ralph Wilmington ordered him off the water.

The jury heard the evidence and dismissed the men. Attorney Weiss appeared for the defense and attorney John Pope for the plaintiff.

There are two other cases, one against VanHassan and two against Geo. Sheldon which were continued to next week.

The actions are of interest to hunters generally because of the contention of many owners of land bordering on lakes, that they can control the water the same as their land through having Riparian rights to it. Never before until this year has Mr. Fowler sought to assert his alleged right, but he claims that promiscuous shooting resulting in death of cattle etc., has grown to such an extent that he is to have it determined whether or not he has that right to control water shall shot and fish on the water of Fourth Lake, which borders on his place and which he claims is his through having the particular title he has.

RETIRED FARMER DROPS DEAD OF HEART FAILURE

William Choje, retired farmer of one-half mile south of Millburn, dropped dead Friday night while disrobing for bed, and was found by his son John when the latter went to the Choje residence from his own place on an errand.

The late Mr. Choje was sixty-four years old, a widower, and a highly respected citizen.

Earlier in the evening the late Mr. Choje had been called up on the telephone, at about seven, and was found hale and hearty. Later, at nine, he was found dead on his bed, half undressed. The inquest was held at nine thirty Saturday morning at the home and the funeral was held at two Sunday from the Millburn church to Warren cemetery.

The verdict of the coroner's jury was death by heart failure. The evidence showed that Mr. Choje on being asked by a neighbor at seven to stay at his house with children while he himself went to a party refused on a plea of illness. When the party broke up the neighbor, a Mr. Thom, had told of the illness and as a result a Mr. Tower stopped at the Choje place when he saw a light burning at the unusually late hour of ten thirty and the body was found.

BURN MILLIONS AT COUNTY CLERK HENDEE'S OFFICE

County Clerk Hendee and Supervisors Johnson and Lamey Friday burned a million and a half dollars in old county checks, vouchers and orders.

The orders to destroy the papers of this nature filed since 1880 came at the last meeting of the supervisors and were carried out Friday when the money fed the flames of the court house furnace.

Stacks of old checks a foot high were burned and orders in fat bundles representing thousands went the same route.

FAMILY POISONED BY TOADSTOOLS

On Friday of last week at the home of John Zinnarabbe just south of town occurred an incident which might have ended quite seriously. The family enjoyed a hearty meal at noon and soon afterward all were taken violently ill. About six o'clock a physician was summoned and found them suffering from the effects of a poison. Upon inquiring into the matter he found that they had partaken of mushroom for dinner which beyond doubt contained a few toadstools gathered by mistake. Fortunately no serious results followed.

TRACE ROUTE OF ROBBERS

William Protine Finds Tools Used by Robbers of Waukegan Post Office

TURNED OVER TO POLICE

Jimmy, Two Drills, Set Screw and Two Feet of Fuse Found in Ditch by Side of Clayton Street Hill

The search for the gang of crackmen, who a month ago blew the Waukegan postoffice safe and got away with $2,000 in loot, was quickened by a find made late Tuesday afternoon.

William Protine, a driver for the coal firm of D. T. Webb & Co., found the tools with which the gang wrecked the safe, probably discarded in a hurry as the crackmen fled toward the Northwestern freight yards.

Protine's attention was attracted by the glitter of some metallic object in the gutter at the northeast corner of Sheridan road and Clayton street and going to the place he first picked up a chisel, then two bits for boring steel, then two feet of fuse, then a jimmy and the other attachments for a set screw such as is used by safe blowers to twist into a safe lock for the purpose of breaking the tumblers.

Protine reported the find to the police and the entire kit of tools is now in the hands of Chief Tyrrell.

By the new find the police are enabled to trace the entire route of the safe blowers from the postoffice. First they left by the rear area way up stairs, descending into the alley which they traversed to Clayton street, where they dropped the tools. They then descended the hill to the Hussey lumber yard, where by the light of a candle they picked over and divided their booty, after discarding their garments and put on others, they jumped a late passenger or even a freight train and got out of the way as rapidly as possible.

The most interesting of the tools found is the jimmy, which is about fourteen inches long and has two square holes in its center, where the iron is thick. Into one of these holes fits a set screw that was also found. When the safe blowers have drilled into a safe they screw the set screw into the aperture opposite a lock and burst it to bits, rendering it useless. The jimmy itself is simply an elongated cold chisel for prying open doors and windows.

The fuse is one fourth of an inch thick and about two feet long. The tools are not much damaged, and the marvel is that they were not found long ago.

MARRIED MONDAY AT WAUKEGAN

On Monday last occurred the marriage of Miss Marion Davis, second daughter of Mrs. Geo. Davis of Antioch and Mr. Arthur Hadlock, eldest son of Mr. and Mrs. Howard Hadlock also of this place.

Both young people are well known in and about Antioch and have many friends who wish them much joy and happiness through life.

Monday morning without making their intentions generally known the happy couple quietly slipped away to Waukegan where a license was procured and the nuptial knot tied. But during the day the secret leaked out and upon their return Monday evening they were treated to a real old fashioned charivari.

Mr. and Mrs. Hadlock will make their home with the bride's mother for the present.

FIGHT FOR POSSESSION OF FURNITURE

Tuesday afternoon before Justice Orvis at Waukegan was heard the case of Mrs. Herrick of Fox Lake vs. Mr. and Mrs. Edward Howard. She charges that they would not turn over to her certain furniture which she had placed in her private room when her husband leased the Mineola hotel. The Howards claimed it as a part of their assets.

The Howards seized the furniture on the ground that Mrs. Herrick had not paid her rent for the hotel. Mrs. Herrick at once served out a writ of replevin and this has been contested. The furniture concerned in the case is worth about $150.

Attorney Alex Beaubien is representing Mrs. Herrick while Attorneys Heydecker and Field are representing Mr. and Mrs. Howard. The case was hotly contested and has been taken under a week's advisement by Justice Orvis.

HURLED DOWN STEPS

Queer Story Told the Police by one John Spatt, a Waukegan Man

HERO OF ANOTHER INCIDENT

Victim Says Hold-up Man Accused Him of Having Roll That Would Choke a Cow and Tried to Kill Him

John Spatt, of south Sheridan road, Waukegan, claims that between eight thirty and nine o'clock Tuesday night an attempt was made to rob him while he was going down the forty steps, and says that as he resisted the thug pushed him backwards down the steps, inflicting scalp wounds.

Chief Tyrrell doubts the story as the man had been drinking heavily and did not tell his story straightly.

Spatt, who is a farm hand, was interviewed. He is a German, has been here for seven years, has worked faithfully for many prominent farmers of the county, and is considered a good man when he lets drink alone.

"I was near the top of the forty steps," he said, "when a young man about eighteen years old and looking like a foreigner of some type I do not know, came up to me and grabbed at my throat."

"Come on, now," he said, "I know that you've got a roll that would choke a cow, and you don't need it because you've got a barrel full of coin down in some Chicago bank."

Spatt says that he then held up his end of the attack by grabbing the hold up by the throat, but he declares that the unknown thug gave him a vicious push that sent him headlong to the bottom of the steps, and when he recovered he crawled to the top again and sought refuge with a colored family where his wounds were dressed.

Spatt is, according to his own story, the man who a year ago perpetrated the most novel drunken stunt the police ever heard of. Boarding a street car at Washington and Genesee streets, when the conductor came around for fares he announced that he was a "bell inspector" and therefore did not have to pay.

The conductor actually believed him and he rode for most of the day "inspecting bells" until finally suspicion was aroused and he was put off the car, arrested and fined $7.40 after a police inspection.

The trick at that time made tears of laughter come to the eyes of the police and the examining magistrate, a feat that Spatt almost duplicated as he told the story in his German dialect.

DISCOVER OLD OIL CAN NEAR PARK

The discovery of a leaky old oil can near the scene of the fire at the Fort Sheridan pavilion on Monday night has practically convinced north shore residents that the fire was the act of incendiarism, arranged by some person who evidently was not in accord with the class of attractions which were showing at the institution or else an enemy to its owner, the Chicago and Milwaukee Electric railroad.

It was learned that the oil can has been placed in the custody of the railroad officials and they are even now seeking its owner.

The dancing pavilion and property destroyed was covered with $8,000 insurance. This will practically cover the loss.

There were two pianos destroyed in the fire, one belonging to Louis J. Yeoman of Waukegan, which was not covered by insurance.

LIVELY FIGHT FOR JUDGE

Charles Whitney of Waukegan and Paul MacGuffin of Libertyville Mentioned

There may be lively competition at the future election for circuit judges of the district. The judges for Lake, Boone, McHenry and Winnebago counties, comprising the seventeenth judicial circuit, are Judges Donnelly, Robert H. Wright and Arthur H. Frost.

There are several candidates for the positions and among them are said to be two Lake county men, Paul MacGuffin, an attorney at Libertyville, and Charles Whitney, an attorney at Waukegan.

Friends of Mr. Whitney are said to have circulated a petition urging him to enter the field for the nomination. What his decision will be is not known but attorneys say that they have seen the petition and have attacked their signatures.

DeWolf of Boone is stated to be another aspirant, and C. P. Barnes is said to add luster to the list from McHenry county. The line up is not yet completed.

The present incumbents have not as yet stated any intention of withdrawing.

ANTIOCH STARS WIN FROM BURLINGTON

A fast game of ball was played at Burlington last Sunday between the Antioch Stars and Burlington which resulted in a score of 16 to 2 in favor of Antioch.

Our boys showed themselves to be far superior to their opponents, outclassing them at every turn and holding them down to no runs for the first five innings while they rolled up a count of eleven scores.

Poulton pitched the best game of the season, striking out ten men and allowing but five hits during the entire game, while our boys scored thirteen hits off Holtz, Burlington's pitcher. No one walked while Poulton was in the box, but Holtz allowed six men first base.

The batteries were: Antioch, Weinberg and Poulton; Burlington, O'Neil and Holtz.

Following is the score by innings:
Antioch.....4 4 0 0 3 0 2 0 3—16
Burlington.....0 0 0 0 1 0 0 1—2
Dr. Forge of Burlington, umpired the game.

Next Sunday the Stars meet North Chicago on the Rambler grounds at Libertyville. This promises to be a tip top game and all who can should plan to attend.

It will be remembered that some time ago North Chicago and Antioch played here, the game going to North Chicago by a small margin, and that one week ago last Sunday they played on the local grounds, Antioch winning in a twelve inning game by a score of 3 to 2. Therefore, the two teams standing at a tie should, of itself, be sufficient insurance of a good game next Sunday.

THE SKOKIE CANAL TO BE COMPLETED BEFORE SNOW FLIES

The project for the drainage of the giant Skokie marsh and the reclamation of approximately thirty thousand acres of what is now waste land is rapidly being brought into shape.

The prospects are that the big drainage ditch will be finished before snow flies, say the projectors, and already the movement, which at first had a bit of opposition, is gaining such favor that surrounding farmers, owners of slough areas, are petitioning to be permitted to connect with the big ditch.

The commission meets every day and is traversing the ground with a view to assessing for benefits.

It is expected that the report by this drainage commission will be ready within a few days and after it is accepted the excavation work will begin at once.

The Skokie area begins at Rondout and extends south to a great distance. Millionaire owners of property, country estates, will be benefited vastly by the drainage system, as will almost every farmer.

The Skokie drain is said to be one of three like drains planned from Waukegan to Evanston and will add immeasurably to the land wealth of two counties.

SAY WELLS CONTAIN TYPHOID

Reports showing the well water on the dairy farms supplying Chicago with milk, which include many Lake County farms, to contain typhoid germs has been received from inspectors of the city health department, who have been testing the water. If the dairymen use the water in increasing the quantity of their lacteal supply there is danger of typhoid being communicated to many Chicago families, according to the reports. The health department, through Dr. Taylor, chief food inspector, accordingly started on a vigorous campaign against the dairies. Fifty warning letters were sent out, others are to follow and in three days new samples will be taken.

SEVEN BADLY INJURED

Disastrous Accident at Naval Training Station Near North Chicago

SCAFFOLD FALLS 38 FEET

Seven Men on Scaffold Plunged Thirty-eight Feet and Land on Brick Roof of Administration Building

Through the collapse and fall of a scaffold at the United States naval training station at North Chicago Wednesday morning seven were precipitated thirty-eight feet through the air from the top of a water tower to the roof of the administration building and in falling carried with them three other scaffolds.

Four are seriously injured and there may be one or two who are hurt fatally.

Seven bricklayers, employees of the Hill Construction Company, naval training station contractors, experienced death defying thirty-eight foot flights through space from the topmost point of the administration building at the station at ten minutes after eleven Wednesday morning to the brick roof.

The accident occurred when the scaffold on which they were working gave way under the weight of the seven men and the pile of brick which had just been deposited on the scaffold.

The men had been put to work at walling in the large water tank which had been hoisted to the topmost pinnacle of the huge steel tower which had been hitherto constructed. According to one of the men the work progressed very rapidly all the morning until the fatal moment when the scaffold gave way without the least warning.

The men were all working on the topmost scaffold. Three other scaffolds had been erected below them.

The crash of the breaking of the timbers was heard for hundreds of feet. The men working on adjoining buildings witnessed the death defying plunge taken by the seven. The men and the piles of brick were plunged down through the third scaffold, thence down and through the second and finally after the weight of their bodies and of the brick had broken way through the first they were piled bodily on the brick roof of the building.

Fellow workmen actually tore their clothes from their bodies to wrap them about the injured men. They were lain on the rough wooden floors of the building where they awaited the arrival of two ambulances.

During the space of time that elapsed between the time of the accident and of the arrival of the ambulances the seven men were compelled to lie about on the floor suffering intensely from the bitter cold. The fierce west wind howled through the open building, causing even those well clothed to shiver and shake.

Fellow employees of the injured men were heard to lay the blame on the scaffold ereectors, who they claim were not expert men. Others were heard to blame the wind. An examination of the scaffold and of the timbers which were broken failed to throw any light upon the situation. At first it was feared that the scaffold had been overloaded. One of the injured men claims that it was not and he layed the blame on the scaffold erectors.

Although Drs. Connel and Foley examined the men while they lay on the wooden floor of the administration building, the examination was not such as to display exactly the extent of the injuries suffered by the men.

Superintendent Hill showed signs of having taken the accident to heart and personally he used every means known to supply the wants of the injured.

ARRESTED ON SERIOUS CHARGE

Mrs. Addie Gilpin, wife of John Gilpin of Grass Lake, Monday swore out a warrant charging that her husband had threatened to kill her and her father, John Vidvard, also of Grass Lake.

The family is prominent at Grass Lake and the action is quite a sensation. Just how he made the threat is not known but report is that the husband made threats against his wife and that her father going to her aid received similar threats, with the above result. Waukegan Gazette.

SYNOPSIS.

The Escapade opens, not in the romance preceding the marriage of Ellen Slocum, a Puritan miss, and Lord Carrington, but in their life after settling in England. The scene is placed, just following the revolution, in Carrington castle in England. The Carringtons, after a house party, engaged in a family fight, caused by jealousy. Lord Carrington and his wife each made charges of faithlessness against the other in continuation of the quarrel.

CHAPTER III.—Continued.

"But I thought, my dear child," began Lady Cecily with covert malice in voice and manner, "that you did not approve of the—er—wicked little pastebards."

"I have been converted by"—Ellen looked around—"by Lord Strathgate's arguments this afternoon."

Lord Strathgate had not made any arguments that afternoon, but he was too clever not to follow my lady's lead.

"You flatter me, dear Lady Carrington," he murmured, with a knowing glance that made Carrington want to kill him then and there.

"Ellen," whispered Debbie, "you are not going to let them play, are you?"

"I'm going to play myself," returned Ellen recklessly in a loud, clear voice.

"But, my dear Lady Carrington, you don't know one card from another," expostulated the admiral who had observed with dismay the course of events.

"Sir Charles Seton will teach me," returned Ellen, quickly.

"With pleasure, your ladyship," said Sir Charles.

"But you promised," said Deborah artlessly, turning to that gallant young soldier, "to show me that rare old edition of Richard Baxter in the library."

"Baxter, the Saint's Rest!" snickered Athelstrong.

"Good Lord, she's got him there."

"It doesn't make the least bit of difference, Sir Charles," began Ellen, commiserating his look of dismay at the sneers and laughter of the company. "I know you would help me if you could, but Miss Slocum has the prior claim and someone else will teach me."

"I will take upon myself that honor," interrupted Strathgate quickly. "Sir Charles, will you take me to the library?" now interposed the shocked and scandalized little Puritan.

"Lady Carrington, your instruction awaits you," said the earl, bowing.

"On second thought, Lord Strathgate," returned Ellen, "I don't believe I feel equal to learning a new game."

"Have your religious scruples returned, Lady Carrington," exclaimed Lady Cecily, insinuatingly, "or are you afraid of losing money?"

"I will cut the cards with you, Lady Cecily, or you, Mrs. Monbrant, this instant for a thousand pounds and then we will see which of us is afraid," returned Ellen with wonderful composure.

"You are mad," began Carrington, as the two ladies addressed shrank back in dismay.

"Your pardon, my lord, I am addressing your friends, not you. Do either of you ladies take me? No? Is there anyone then who wishes to tempt fortune in this way? You only play for money and not for the game, I understand. Duke, will you cut me for a thousand pounds? No? Will you, duchess, or you, General Athelstrong?"

"If you make it 50, my dear lady," began the general.

"Admiral, I know you don't play," interrupted Ellen, disdainful of the little man and his little stake, "so there only remains—" She looked at the other two men.

Strathgate stepped gallantly into the breach.

"I have not the honor of being your husband, Lady Carrington—unfortunately," he added under his breath—"and I will cut the cards with you for any sum of money—or anything else."

"Done!" cries the lady, "the highest card takes the thousand pounds. I shall have to depend on you gentlemen to tell me which is high, if I have won."

"I shall stand by you," Carrington said to his wife, "with your permission, and see fair play."

"By God, sir!" cried Strathgate, springing to his feet, "does that mean—?"

"It means nothing but that a husband's place is by his wife's side when she ventures fortune, reputation or honor," returned my lord, very high and mighty.

"Madam," said Strathgate presently, "will you cut first?"

Ellen lifted the top card. "The four of hearts," she exclaimed. "The three of spades," said Strathgate, turning a card. "The thousand pounds is yours and I am the richer in your triumph, madam," he added, bowing gracefully.

"Two thousand pounds against two of yours, for another cut, my lord," said Ellen.

"The knave of hearts," said Ellen, turning her card.

"The unmannerly ace of clubs takes in custody your knave," returned Strathgate after making his cut.

"Once more, and this time for £3,000."

"I cannot disoblige a lady," returned Strathgate smiling, although his face was growing somewhat pale. Surely this was play such as he had never ventured upon.

"Ellen, stop!" cried Carrington, dropping his hand upon her shoulder.

"My lord, you hurt my shoulder. Thank you," she added as he removed his hand.

The cards were cut again, and once more Strathgate won. Ellen found herself £4,000 in his debt.

"Tis £4,000 then. Would you see it on the board?"

"Your word is sufficient for me," replied Strathgate gravely.

Again Ellen lost and found herself in debt £3,000.

"Five thousand pounds the stake now," cried my lady, cutting once more.

And this time Ellen won.

"How stands the score now?"

"You owe me £3,000," said Strathgate.

"Once more and now for £5,000 pounds," said Ellen, her face flushed with excitement.

Ellen's luck was with her and this time she won.

"And now," she said, "the score is in my favor."

"Yes, madam, for £3,000."

"Do you wish to quit now, my lord?"

"Never," said the earl. "I will play with you to the extent of my fortune."

"Seven thousand pounds," cried Ellen.

And this time fortune was against her, for my lord of Strathgate won.

"For God, the score weaves like a sea-saw," cried Gen. Athelstrong.

"Now she owes him £4,000."

"Ellen," said Carrington, desperately, "I beg you to stop now."

"Is Lord Carrington afraid his wife will lose all her money?" he deftly interposed Strathgate, sneering.

Back and forth the wagers went with varying fortune between the two until after half an hour's fierce and uninterrupted play Ellen found herself in Strathgate's debt for £20,000, so easily is money lost upon the turning of a card.

"My lord," she said, rising and calmly pushing the cards from her, "that is as much ready money as I have at my banker's. When I play, I pay. What are those things of which I have heard you speak, I. O. U.'s do they call them? Will some one show me how to make one out? The money shall be paid you in the morning."

"Give no thought to that, my lady," cried Strathgate. "It was but an idle pleasantry, our play, and I am ready to cancel the obligation and let the evening go as if it were not."

"No, by heaven!" cried Carrington, "when my wife loses she pays."

Even jealous, maddened Carrington admitted that she was a gallant loser.

"Now the rest of you may play as you will," she said, smiling gayly upon them.

"Wait!" said Carrington, who stood stupefied during the transaction.

"Strathgate and I will play a game."

"Whatever game you like, Carrington," replied Strathgate.

"I'll match you for that I. O. U. of my wife's."

"Good," said Strathgate coolly, "what do you offer to set up against it?"

"Carrington hall. There is not a mortgage upon it, and it has been put in thorough repair. 'Tis worth double your stake."

"Good, I take you," said Strathgate, "what shall it be?"

Strathgate drew a card, looked at it, smiled, and laid it face downward upon the table. An expression of intense satisfaction spread over his face.

Carrington followed the other's motions, grim and frowning.

"Uncover your cards, gentlemen," said the duke.

"Turn up your card," cried Carrington, throwing the four of clubs upward on the table.

"Gentlemen," he said, "Lord Carrington is lucky at cards. I have but the three of diamonds." He turned it over. "You win, my friend. Your wife's I. O. U. is yours and I confess I'm glad of it."

"Madam," said Carrington, standing up grim and grave and proffering the paper to his wife. "I return you your debt of honor."

"By no means, sir," returned Ellen proudly, "it shall be paid to you in the morning."

"Better to me than to Lord Strathgate," said Carrington bitterly.

CHAPTER IV.

A Dance, a Kiss, a Meeting.

Taking the assent of the company for granted, Ellen, who had assumed the unexpected role of leadership in the evening's entertainment, summoned the servants and directed them to move the furniture from the center of the room in preparation for the dance.

"If you can't and won't dance, Lady Carrington," said Mrs. Monbrant, who knew very well Ellen's inability, "won't you play for us?"

"I can't play either," answered Ellen.

"What, neither play nor dance! Where were you brought up, my dear child?" continued the widow in a tone of commiseration, as if she had heard the dire news for the first time at that moment.

"And you are mistaken in one point," added Ellen. "I can dance if anyone will play."

"But I thought," began Carrington nervously.

The door opened and in came Mistress Debbie followed by Sir Charles.

"Egad, Seton," snickered the duke, "did you find Baxter's 'Saints' Rest' so engrossing that you forgot all about us?"

"Debbie, I'm going to show these people how to dance, will you play for me?"

"Play for a dance?" cried Deborah.

"What shall it be?" said the helpless Deborah as Seton led her to the harpsichord.

"Yankee Doodle!" cried Ellen.

"Damned rebel tune!" muttered the duke under his breath in an aside.

"You are surely not going to attempt to make a spectacle of yourself before these our friends," remonstrated Carrington in a low tone of voice.

But Ellen had the bit between her teeth.

"That's as may be, my lord. Debbie, strike up."

Ellen seized her skirts, lifted them high enough to disclose her prettily shod foot and ankles and broke into—shades of Lull!—a sailor's hornpipe. She danced it with the spirit and abandon of the youngest and most reckless blue jacket. Her feet flew back and forth making a merry clicking on the hard wood floor. There were glimpses of flashing buckles and scarlet hose and dashes of white petticoat in a magnificent whirl of reckless gaiety.

Carrington stood with clinched hands and lowering brows for a moment while Strathgate, Dulward and Athelstrong crowded closer and stared hard. Even the duchess and Mrs. Monbrant joined the circle. There was a great clapping of hands and much shouting of "Brava" to encourage the danseuse while the performance lasted.

Presently Carrington, unable to sustain the sight any longer, turned and beckoning to Lady Cecily ceremoniously offered her his arm and the two disappeared through the doorway leading into the hall.

The spirit seemed to go out of Ellen's dancing as Carrington left the room, for her steps faltered and then Deborah turned and found Seton's back fair and square to her shoulder and the music suddenly ceased.

"Now," said Lady Ellen, panting and triumphant, "the rest of you may dance as you please. Have I proved my knowledge, Mrs. Monbrant?"

"Of a kind, yes," said the widow, arching her brows and turning away.

"Where have my lord and Lady Cecily gone?" asked the hostess, her eyes roving through the door into the hall.

"Shall we seek them?" said Strathgate with a low bow, offering his arm.

"Whither have they gone, think you?" queried Ellen.

"To the arbor, probably. 'Tis a favorite haunt of theirs. Shall we follow?"

SHUNS TUB; SUEED FOR DIVORCE.

Husband Averse to Bathing During Thirty Years Is Defendant.

Washington, Pa.—Charging that her husband has not bathed since their marriage, 30 years ago, Mrs. Irene A. Strain of near Washington is suing for a divorce from Thomas R. Strain, a wealthy farmer.

Strain, in turn, has brought a counter suit for separation against the woman, in which he makes some startling charges.

In open court Mrs. Strain, besides charging her husband with failure to take a bath since 1878, says that he has blackened her eyes, kicked her shins, forced her to care for the stock and do all the chores about the farm.

She testified that Strain left his dying daughter two years ago, made a pleasure trip to Philadelphia, and did not return until after the funeral. Neighbors corroborated Mrs. Strain's tale of abuse.

On the stand the husband said that a small fortune had been dissipated by his wife's extravagance, that when angry she burned his hay and grain and destroyed his farming implements.

JOHN HENRY

ON DINNER GUESTS

BY GEO. V. HOBART, ("HUGH M'HUGH.")

Dear Bunch: Your letter from London to hand and contents noted. Peaches and I are mighty glad you're starting for home in two weeks, and we'll meet you at the pier with bells on.

We're all well here with the exception that Peaches gave an onion saengerfest night before last and I've been on the blink ever since.

This onion saengerfest thing may be a new one on you, Bunch, so I'll specify.

An onion saengerfest is where a bunch of people gather in your parlor in the evening and spill a lot of cheap songs all over the carpet while waiting for dinner to be announced.

I don't know just exactly where the onion comes in, but I suppose that applies to most of the guests.

There were present at the battle I speak of Uncle Peter Grant and Aunt Julia, Bud Hawley and his second wife; your sister, Jennie, and her husband, Stub Wilson, from Milwaukee.

Oh, I forgot to mention that old Dr. Guffhander, the celebrated food expert, was the guest of the evening.

Dr. Guffhander is a great friend of Uncle Peter's, and has been using him for a meal ticket for several days.

Somehow or other Uncle Gregory got on to the fact that Morty Smith had sent me a case of Pommery, and long before the dinner hour Uncle Greg complained of dust in the pipes.

"Down in the Lehigh Valley—"

He hinted around so hard about the Pommery that I took him out in the butler's pantry, opened a quart of the only real wine, and let the old geezer slosh around in the surf.

After Uncle Greg came to the surface he marched back into the parlor and insisted upon singing the swan song from Lohengrin, but his idea of a swan was so much like a turkey gobbler that loving friends had to put the meccasins to him and run him out of the room.

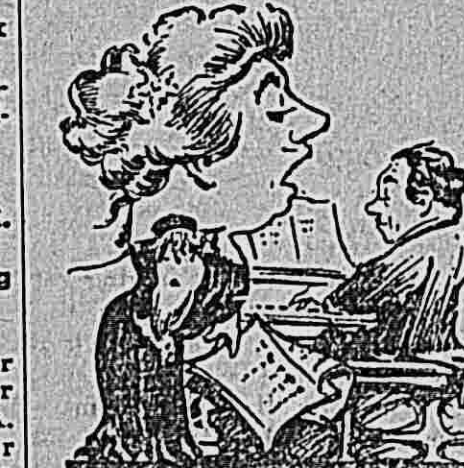

Then he went out in the butler's pantry, hoping to do another splash in the Pommery, but not finding any, he began to recite: "Down in the Lehigh valley me and my people grew; I was a blacksmith, cap'n; yes, and a good one, too! Let me sit down a minute, a stone's got into my shoe—"

But it wasn't a stone. It was potato salad which the Irish cook threw at him for interfering with her work.

After all the excitement was over and Unk Greg, was sleeping with magnificent noises on the sofa in the library, your sister Jennie was coaxed to sing Tosti's "Good-by."

Of course you know, Bunch, we're all very fond of your sister, but I'm afraid if Mr. Tosti ever heard her sing his "Good-by" he would say: "The same to you, and here's your hat."

Before Jennie married and moved west I remember she had a very pretty mezzo-concertina voice, but she's been so long helping Stub Wilson to make Milwaukee famous that nowadays her top notes sound like a cuckoo clock after it's been up all night.

"Good-By, Summer—"

I suppose, Bunch, it's wrong for me to pull this on you about your own flesh and blood, but when a married woman with six fine children, one of them at Yale, slides up in front of the piano and begins to squeak: "Good-by, summer! Good-by, summer!" just as if she were calling the dachshund in to dinner, I think it's time she declined the nomination.

Then Bud Hawley, after figuring it all out that there was no chance of his getting arrested, sat down on the piano stool and made a few sad statements, which in their original state form the basis of a Scotch ballad called "Loch Lomond."

As you know, Bunch, Bud's system of speaking the English language is to say with his voice as much of a word as he can remember, and then finish the rest with his hands.

You can imagine what Bud would do to a song with an oatmeal foundation like "Loch Lomond."

When Bud barked out the first few bars, which say: "By yon bonnie bank and by yon bonnie brae," you can believe me, Bunch, everybody within hearing would have cried with joy if the piano had fallen over on Bud and flattened his equator.

And when he reached the plot of the piece, where it says: "You take the high road and I'll take the low road," Uncle Peter took a drink, Jack Merton took the same, Stub took an oath and I took a walk.

"Listening with a Heart Full of Pride."

Never in my life, Bunch, have I heard a song so roughly handled.

And all the while Bud's wife sat there with the glad and winning smile of a catfish on her face, listening with a heart full of pride while her crime-laden husband chased that helpless song all over the parlor, and finally left it unconscious under the sofa.

Bud was just about to pull the cork from another ballad when dinner was announced and our lives were saved.

I'm so unstrung over the narrow escape, Bunch, that I'll wait until later to tell you about the eats—which were what we come for.

With respect, J. H.

WALK THROUGH FIRE.

Ceremony of Sect of Brahmins in Honor of Gods of Fire and Water.

Six thousand Hindus and a select few English officials have recently witnessed in the neighborhood of Madras a remarkable religious ceremony, the principal actors being Solvrastas, a sect of Brahmins.

The festival was called "the march through fire," and it is appropriately enough named. The proceedings were in honor of Brahma and Vishnu, the gods of water and fire.

Preparations for the ceremony had been going on for a month. A trench 23 feet long and 19 feet deep was dug, and in it a fire was kindled. At sunrise 40 fanatics, who were to demonstrate their asbestos nature, slowly marched around the furnace bearing the curious idols. The Solvrastas were clothed in yellow tunics, and without hesitation entered the fire trench singing a hymn, the refrain of which was "Govinda! Govinda!"

After walking around this artificial Gehenna three times they emerged apparently none the worse for their experience, and have established an unassailable claim for sanctity among their people.

MINISTER A BUSY MAN.

Virginia Pastor Caters Not Alone to Souls of His Parishioners.

Mr. R. J. McKay, assistant general passenger agent Toledo, St. Louis & Western and Chicago & Alton railroads, in his travels through the east recently noticed in a certain Virginia newspaper the following advertisement:

REV. GEORGE W. WHARTON—

Carries a Full Line of STAPLE AND FANCY GROCERIES.

OH, OYSTERS!

He receives almost daily, fresh, first-class Oysters, at moderate prices.

FRESH FISH!

Various kinds of Fresh Fish in season, the very best, to tempt the epicurean taste.

MATRIMONIAL MATTER.

Rev. Mr. Wharton's residence is a mecca for marrying couples. So just gain the consent of your best girl, secure the license, and together with a fat fee, give him a call, and he will perform the ceremony in the most approved style.

Who Wields Most Power.

In the smoking room of a popular West End club the other afternoon a group of men suddenly raised the query as to which six men wield the most power in the world, and very considerable diversity of opinion was expressed. By general consent King Edward was placed at the head of the list, but it seemed impossible to arrive at any agreement as to the remaining five. After some considerable argument it was decided to canvass the whole of the members then in the building and ask them to write down the names of the six they considered the most powerful. The following was the result, with the order of voting: First, the king; second, the pope; third, the czar; fourth, the sultan of Turkey; fifth, the president of the United States; sixth, the emperor of China. Among others who were voted for very generally were the emperor of Japan, the French president and the Kaiser.—London Sketch.

HAD HEARD THEM.

Judge—Do you understand the nature of an oath? She—I'm a telephone girl, judge.

The Scramble for Wealth.

If there is a sad thing in the world, it is the spectacle of the men and women who, in their mad scramble for wealth, have crushed out of their lives sentiment and the love of all that is beautiful and sublime. The very process by which they seek to win the means of enjoyment kills the faculties by which they can enjoy. When the average man wins his wealth he finds himself without the power of enjoyment, for the enjoying side of his nature is dead. He finds to his sorrow that the straining, striving life is also a starving one.

Decorations for Women.

There are few decorations for women in Europe, the most ancient order coming from the Austrian throne. It is the decoration of the Star and Cross, and is given to women of high rank. Another is the Luise, founded in memory of the beautiful queen of Prussia, whom Napoleon insulted. This order is given to all classes of women who commit any great self-sacrifice.

Important to Mothers.

Happenings of Illinois

News Notes of Interest Gathered in Cities, Towns and Villages of the State.

TWO NEGROES BREAK JAIL.

Saw Bars of Morgan County Prison and Escape.

Jacksonville.—Robert Pruitt and Lee Ellison, both colored, escaped from the county jail by sawing the bars protecting the window of their cell. Bloodhounds attempted to trail the men.

Pruitt was captured recently at Springfield and returned to this city to answer a charge of robbery. He is alleged to have stolen hides from Harigan Brothers' warehouse. Ellison, who hails from Missouri, was arrested a short time ago for a theft committed at the home of W. J. Williamson, northwest of the city. Sheriff Graff has offered a reward of $25 for the capture of either man.

FIRE LOSS $150,000 AT CAIRO.

Business Institutions Burn—Flames Get Start Before Discovery.

Cairo.—Cairo suffered a $150,000 fire when the office building and warehouse of the Three States Implement Company at Twentieth and Commercial avenues and the warehouse and office building and lumber yard of the Kelly Bros. Lumber Company, directly adjoining on the north, were destroyed. The fire started in a store-room of the lumber company and was under considerable headway before discovered. The Three States Implement Company carried insurance of $31,000, the National Motor Company $2,000, and the Kelly Bros. Lumber Company $46,700.

Rage Lined with Cash.

Granite City.—The local police visited "Hungry Hollow," the foreign settlement on the west side of town, to serve four warrants, charging attempted robbery.

When the men were searched their rags were found to be comfortably lined with greenbacks, between $700 and $800 being taken from them.

Sealing Wax on Foot Poisons.

Decatur.—The ten-year-old daughter of William Coston is suffering with a badly infected foot. She was helping her mother bottle catsup several days ago. She wore neither shoes nor stockings, and when a drop of boiling sealing wax dropped on her foot it burned deeply. Blood poisoning followed.

Child Wife Given Freedom.

Clinton.—Carrie Zortman Ellsworth, the 16-year-old child wife who was sentenced to pay a fine of $100 because she admitted she had sworn falsely to a marriage certificate, was released from the county jail when Judge Fred C. Hill granted the petition for discharge under the pauper act.

Mule Car Days Over.

Murphysboro.—The little old mule cars, which have done service in Murphysboro for 15 years, are no more. As the street paving is being put down, heavy rails are being placed, and gasoline motor cars will be operated. The motor cars are to give way to electric power later.

Squirrels Take Corn.

Brighton.—According to Dr. Anton Glassbrenner and other Alton hunters, the corn crop between Alton and Brighton was invaded by hundreds of squirrels. Dr. Glassbrenner killed 25 squirrels in the corn field of David Weigel and Chris Mayford killed 60 in a day in another field.

Ends Life with Bullet.

Hillsboro.—While temporarily insane, Clarence Manning of Sorento ended his life by sending a bullet through his brains. He was engaged in the dairy business at Sorento until a week ago when he sold out. He was 22 years old. Surviving are his wife and one child.

Asks $10,000; Gets $1,000.

Taylorville.—The jury in the case of Joseph Malhot, administrator of the estate of Steve Mariotti of Assumption, returned a verdict giving the plaintiff a judgment of $1,000 against the Assumption Coal Company. The suit was for $10,000.

Engineer Paid for Hurts.

East St. Louis.—George E. McFarland, an engineer for the Illinois Central railroad, was given a judgment for $5,000 against that company by a jury in the city court for injuries received a year ago when his engine crashed through a trestle.

Boy Steps on Nail; Dead.

Ottawa.—William Willey, 13 years old, died at his home near here of lockjaw as the result of stepping on a rusty nail.

Girl Dies; Fiance a Suicide.

Mattoon.—Charles J. Elliott, a young farmer of Jasper county, committed suicide by shooting himself through the heart. The act is supposed to be due to grief over the death of his fiancée.

Illinois Youth Commits Suicide.

Gila.—Charles Elliott, aged 19, a son of C. J. Elliott, with head wound near Gila, with a bullet wound in his breast and a discharged revolver lying near. The coroner's jury delivered a verdict of suicide.

YOUNG PASTOR IS JAILED.

Accused of Taking Liberties with Two Children.

Vandalla.—Rev. P. I. Newman, pastor of the First Baptist church of this city was in jail pending the trial of charges made by the mothers of two girls, aged eight and nine years. Newman, who came to Vandalla from Trenton, Mo., last July, was warned by the mothers that they would horse-whip him if he did not leave town. He was preparing to get out when Sheriff Eakon found him at the home of one of the members of his congregation on the outskirts of the city and arrested him. Newman sent word to several leading members of his church and asked them to get bail for him. Squire Joseph Clark, before whom Newman was taken for preliminary hearing, placed the bonds at $1,000, and when the preacher was unable to raise that amount of surety he was thrown into a cell.

ABRAHAM RAYMER NOT GUILTY.

Man Accused of Murder in Springfield Lynching Is Acquitted.

Springfield.—After a deliberation of three hours the jury that heard the evidence in the case against Abraham Raymer, charged with murder, found the defendant not guilty. Raymer was alleged to be the leader of the mob that lynched William Donagan during the recent riots. Raymer also was indicted on a number of other charges and was remanded to jail. The other causes probably will be disposed of in a short time. Quiet prevailed in the court when the verdict was announced. Raymer addressed the jurors, thanking them for acquitting him and saving his life. He insisted that he is innocent of the charges against him. His sister, Mrs. Albert of Boston, who has been with him in the courtroom during the long trial, also thanked the jury. The 12 men voted Raymer not guilty on the first ballot.

Law's Body to Be Returned.

Henry.—The remains of the late W. T. Law of Henry, who died in a hospital near London, England, will be brought back to his home town for burial. Mr. Law, who was a banker and capitalist, had been touring Europe by automobile this summer with his wife, daughter and Miss Thompson of Lacon.

$10,000 Fire at Sullivan.

Sullivan.—Fire destroyed the property formerly occupied as a woolen mill here. The building, which was a two-story brick, was used as a storehouse, and contained a department store, set of bank fixtures, baled hay and baled broomcorn. The loss was $10,000, and was covered by insurance.

Rev. O. O. Inman on Program.

Quincy.—The annual conference of the United Brethren church opened here with a record-breaking attendance. Rev. A. Rigby preached the opening sermon. O. O. Inman of Springfield, pastor of the United Brethren church of that city addressed the gathering.

Buckeye Powder Plant Sold.

Peoria.—The Buckeye Powder plant, located near this city, was sold to R. W. Olin, president of the Equitable Powder Company of East Alton, Ill., and Almon Lent, president of the Austin Powder Company of Cleveland, O., for $75,000 and other considerations.

Say Woman Stole Fortune.

Bloomington.—A request was received by the Bloomington police from Denver, Col., to locate Blanche Price of that city, who is accused by her husband, William Vicorne, of fleeing with the fortune recently left to the couple by his father.

Shoots Brother in Quarrel.

Charleston.—Because his brother's hogs had broken into his cornfield, Couch Harwood shot Jesse Harwood at the home of their father. Jesse will die. The sheriff brought Couch to Charleston and lodged him in the county jail.

Would Break Will.

Quincy.—George Wheeler has instituted suit in the Adams county circuit court to have the will of his father, John Wheeler, set aside. His father, who died about two years ago at the age of 94 years, left an estate valued at $100,000.

Runs Away; Forbidden Long Pants.

Alton.—William F. Gillespie, 13 years old, son of Mr. and Mrs. William Gillespie, ran away from home because he was forbidden to wear long trousers.

"Black Hand" Guilty.

Danville.—Accused of sending a black hand letter to Charles Calcelean, a prosperous Italian merchant of Johnson City, Antonio Romano, also an Italian, was found guilty after a trial in the United States court here.

Commission Firm Quits.

Quincy.—The Cassidy & Gray Commission Company, with headquarters here and offices in Chicago, Peoria and 40 other cities in Illinois and Iowa, made an assignment to William H. Govort, attorney for the company.

FOR THOSE FOND OF SALADS.

These Directions Will Insure Success at All Times.

To keep the salad oil cruet clear and sweet add a tablespoonful of salt to a quart of oil. The oil will not taste of the salt, as the latter will not dissolve but will sink to and settle at the bottom of the cruet.

In mixing salads the oil should be added first and thoroughly spread before adding the other ingredients and mixing.

Salads which are very moist and cooling—particularly cucumber—should have an extra pinch of pepper added to counteract the chilling effect on the eater's stomach.

Cold string bean salad should have a double dose of vinegar, as beans possess in great degree the nutritious and healthful food salts which develop to perfection in acid.

Whenever it is possible pure lemon juice should be substituted for vinegar as being far more wholesome than the latter.

Endives—the pale, cool, succulently curly chicory—salad should be scalded and then chilled to make it more digestible for elderly folk, children or weak digested invalids.

The Home.

A green pepper cut in rings or minced is a tasty addition to almost any vegetable salad.

Chopped beef or pork cracklings are good to use in Indian bread, which is usually served warm, or they may be mixed with bread and mashed potato seasoned and fried like sausage.

Melted beef drippings or tallow can be used in place of paraffin over the top of jelly. Be sure when cold to cover the space around the edge where it has shrunk away from the glass.

To make an inexpensive white cake that is like angel food, beat the whites of three eggs, add one cup of sugar, one-half cup of boiling water, one cup of flour and one teaspoonful of baking powder.

To make perpetual paste, dissolve half an ounce of alum in two teacupfuls of boiling water, beat in an equal weight of flour, add a few drops of oil of cloves and let boil. This will keep for months.

In washing dishes in the white porcelain sink if one would use a wooden chopping bowl for a dishpan and wrap the end of the wire dish strainer with cloth it would be found to prevent many scratches which are so hard to clean off.

A Novel Fruit Dish.

A novel fruit dish that not only keeps its contents perfectly cold but serves as a very attractive and decorative centerpiece is seen in some of the Fifth avenue shops, says the New York Herald. It has met with great success during the summer months when fruit had to be well chilled to make it at all appetizing. There are two dishes, in fact, one fitting inside the other. The outer one is either porcelain or glass, and has a heavy silver rim. The inner one matches it and is smaller by at least two inches in circumference, so that when this one is placed inside the other there is a space large enough all around to hold plenty of cracked ice. When this is filled with ice the fruit is kept at the right temperature, yet it never comes in direct contact with the ice itself.

Chicken Croquettes.

Make a cup of good white sauce by cooking together a tablespoonful of flour with two tablespoonfuls of butter until they thicken, adding a cup of milk and cooking until thick and smooth. Into this stir two cupfuls of minced chicken, well seasoned with salt, pepper, a little onion juice and a grating of lemon peel. Put aside to get cool and stiff, form into pear-shaped croquettes with the hands and let stand a couple of hours in a cold place that they may be firm. Fry in deep fat, carefully, and serve with cream sauce.

Cereal Croquettes.

For this utilize any left-over cereal mush. Reheat with a tablespoonful of milk, add a well beaten yolk of egg, season with a pinch of salt, add two tablespoonfuls chopped raisins or dates, and as soon as the mixture is cool enough form into oval-shaped croquettes. Dip in beaten egg, then in fine crumbs and fry. These make an excellent breakfast dish served with a little crisped bacon. If preferred they may be served warm for luncheon or dessert with fruit sauce.

Removing Fish Odor.

One of the exasperating problems a careful housewife has to deal with is removing the odor of fish from silver. Cooking utensils also retain this odor in a most tenacious way. Washing with soap and water is of no avail. Here is a reliable remedy:

Stick knives and forks into a pot of fresh earth and let them remain for about a half hour. If a frying pan or the kettle gives out the fish odor, scatter them thickly with fresh earth.

Heat the Crackers.

Crackers to be served with soup or cheese should be heated and brought at once to the table. Unless they are very thin they should be divided and buttered before going into the oven when they are to be eaten with celery or cheese.

More Rye Pancakes.

One cup rye meal, three-quarters cup flour, half cup molasses, half teaspoon soda, one egg, one pinch cloves. Milk for thick batter. Drop into hot lard like doughnuts.

State Capital News

Breezy Gossip, Notes and Doings of Interest at Springfield.

Springfield.—Habitual drunkards were discussed during the closing session of the Illinois Liquor Dealers' convention at East St. Louis and the saloon men adopted a resolution that fairer laws were needed on the subject of selling to this class. There wasn't a pleasant look for the professional drunkard and the resolution suggests the registration of all this class of men with the city clerk so that he can furnish a list to a saloon keeper when a license is taken out. The following officers were elected: Ernest Kunde, Chicago, president; Rud von Achen, Peoria; William Kane, Rockford; Frank R. Hether, Peoria; Fred Ruedeke, Kankakee; W. J. Goughan, Springfield; Robert Roth, Granite City, vice-presidents; Michael J. McCarthy, Chicago, secretary; Thomas J. Murray, Springfield, treasurer. The selection of a meeting place for 1909 was left to the executive committee. The convention made a donation of $50 to each of the local hospitals.

Universalists Pick Officers.

The annual election of officials of the Illinois Universalists resulted as follows:

President—F. A. Winkelman, Chicago. Vice-president—Rev. F. B. Bishop, Blue Island.

Secretary—Mrs. E. S. Conklin, Elgin. Treasurer—E. A. Dieker, Chicago. Trustees—Mrs. O. W. Nash, Oak Park; M. S. Crissey, Woodlawn; Mrs. C. A. Stevens, Chicago.

It was decided to hold the next convention at Avon.

The Universalist Woman's association elected:

President—Mrs. O. W. Nash, Oak Park. Secretary—Miss Elizabeth Bacon, Chicago.

Directors—Mrs. Winkelman, Chicago; Mrs. C. A. Stevens and Mrs. D. C. Case, Chicago.

In address Mr. Winkelman found several things wrong with the Protestant church. They were lack of reverence prevalent in families by which the child grows up without reverence, cleanliness in churches, overdressing, long prayers in the pulpit, long sermons and the permitting of the divorce evil.

Assign Many M. E. Pastors.

The Southern Illinois conference of the M. E. church closed at McLeansboro after making the following appointments for next year:

Lebanon district—Lawrence Smith, district superintendent; Alton district, J. H. Ford, district superintendent; Brighton, W. W. Edwards; Bunker Hill, F. O. Wilson; Coffeen, C. P. Carlin; Donnellson, W. T. Dunn; Elmhurst, F. N. Ateu; Gillespie, Samuel Thers; Glenn Carbon, Allen S. Weiss; Jerseyville, J. H. Jones; Kane, J. B. Ravenscroft; Litchfield, First church, T. Dewitt Peake; Litchfield, circuit, M. G. Gordon; Madison, L. M. Burkhead; Medora, V. B. Sullivan; New Douglas, S. H. Cassaboun; Pleasant Hill, G. Jeffers; Plainview, G. M. Webster; Ramsey, J. W. Deeweese; Shipman, J. W. Webster; Staunton, P. R. Clotelly; Upper Alton, M. B. Baker; Venice, W. C. Rector; Mount Olive, J. W. Britton.

For Protection of Tollers.

Gov. Deneen appointed the following commission to investigate and report the most advisable methods for providing for health, safety and comfort of employees of public and private institutions, in accordance with a joint resolution passed by the Illinois legislature: E. R. Wright, William M. Rossell, Charles Prez, Henry B. Favill, Graham R. Taylor, Chicago; Peter W. Collins, Springfield; C. A. Peterson, Rockford; Emerit E. Baker, Kewanee; Samuel A. Harper, Maywood. The special duty of the commission, as defined by the legislative enactment, is to make recommendations to the next legislature as to safety appliances and remedial legislation to protect tollers of all classes.

Voters to Pass on Bank Changes.

Because of the provision of the constitution of the state of Illinois calling for a vote of the people on any proposed changes in the government of the state banks, the amendments passed at the last session of the general assembly will be up for referendum vote at the next general election. The amendments followed closely on the heels of the Stensland bank failure in Chicago and were formed with a view to checking similar failures.

Extreme Heat in State Continues.

Extreme heat and total absence of rain marked the climatological conditions in Illinois. In the bulletin issued by William G. Burns, director of the weather bureau of the United States department of agriculture, conditions of the week are summarized as follows: "The mean temperature was nearly ten degrees above the normal. The weather conditions were a continuation of those obtaining the preceding week—hot and dry."

Horace Chapin Called by Death.

Capt. Horace Chapin, a former manager of the Illinois State Journal and founder of the town of Chapin in Morgan county, died at his residence at Jacksonville. Capt. Chapin was 82 years old. He had been a soldier of the civil war, having served with Company K, Twenty-seventh Illinois Infantry. He was born in Chicopee, Hamden county, Mass., and came to Illinois December 27, 1827, with his brother, Lyman Chapin. He settled on a farm of 1,000 acres and laid out a town and called it Chapin.

Tells Benefits of Hard Roads.

A meeting of La Salle county farmers arranged by the For Ottawa club was held at Ottawa for the discussion of subjects of vital importance to the farmers of the community. S. J. Craig of Will county talked upon the subject of a "Permanent System of Agriculture, or Soil Culture and Increasing Its Productivity," and H. H. Gross of Chicago spoke on "Good Roads and How to Build Them." He presented figures showing that the cost of a hard road system would be light in comparison with the benefits. The legislature is to be urged to pass a state aid law calling for the appropriation of $25,000,000 in ten years. Townships of the state, under the proposed plan, will be asked to bond themselves for half the cost of the hard roads built. Mr. Gross presented figures to show that the cost to La Salle county farmers would be only ten cents per acre per year.

Seek to Aid Sick Stock.

The agricultural experiment station at the University of Illinois issued a call for a convention of live stock men to consider the best methods of procedure in view of the growing prevalence of tuberculosis among cattle and swine. Prof. Fraser has spent the summer in Europe and has been in close touch with Dr. Bang of Denmark, one of the best authorities upon bovine tuberculosis in the world. Dr. Bang will be at the university between October 5 and 15, and when the exact date is known after his landing the date of this convention will be fixed. Dr. Russell of Wisconsin is considered the best authority in this country on practical methods of procedure. He has promised to attend such a convention.

Drainage Plan Wins.

Little opposition to the drainage proposition was manifested at Granite City, Madison and Venice, the citizens registering a heavy majority in favor of adequate protection from floods. The oddest feature of the day was in Edwardsville. One corner of the district laid out just touches the southwest corner of Edwardsville township. Only two farmers live in the angle, but an election had to be held in District 4 of Edwardsville. The polling place was opened as usual, but none of the judges or clerks could vote, as they lived in the voting district, but not in the special district. So they sat there all day, but not a single ballot was received, neither of the two men who were entitled to vote coming to town.

Mayors' Society Adjourns.

The Mayors' Association of the State of Illinois closed a two days' convention at La Salle. Elgin was selected as the meeting place for next year. Comptroller Walter H. Wilson of Chicago spoke on "Finances of Our Cities," favoring a new revenue law and asking the support of the association to secure its passage at this session. Mr. Wilson explained how such a law would mean a saving for Chicago. Assistant City Attorney Barge of Chicago also spoke in favor of an increase of bonding power. The association favored assessing property at its full cash value and pledged its members to assist in securing the voters' approval of a $20,000,000 bond issue in Illinois for deep waterway improvement.

Illinois State Fair Opens.

With practically every available foot of exhibition space occupied, the Illinois state fair was held under happy auspices. No set program was carried out until Monday, and visitors occupied their time inspecting the exhibits in the big buildings and among the live stock in the barns and pavilions. Nearly everything was in place at the opening except the perishable horticulture and floriculture exhibits for the dome building, and these were in place Monday. Officers of the state board of agriculture expressed themselves as greatly pleased with the prospect of a record-breaking attendance throughout the week.

Reduction of $1,250,000 Asked.

The sanitary district asks the board of review reduction of $1,250,000 in the assessed valuation in Will county. The district claims exemption of everything on the extension below Lockport excepting the power house. The board contends that the extension including the retaining walls, dams and lock are purely commercial enterprise. The district contends it is public work and not assessable and also opposes assessment on the spoils bank, claiming that the excavated stone is useless and unsalable and offers to pay taxes each year on what is sold if a buyer can be gotten.

Dry Candidate Fined $10.

The anti-saloon war in Calhoun county was aired in the United States district court here when W. S. Wilson of Hanberg, candidate for county treasurer on the Prohibition ticket, acknowledged sending a defamatory letter through the mails and was fined ten dollars and costs. Wilson, angry at an attack made on him by liquor interests, sent a postal card to J. Boede, a former saloon keeper, with the inscription, "You are like a bed-bug, living off other people."

A REASONABLE REQUEST.

PRESCRIBED CUTICURA

After Other Treatment Failed—Raw Eczema on Baby's Face Had Lasted Three Months—At Last Doctor Found Cure.

"Our baby boy broke out with eczema on his face when one month old. One place on the side of his face the size of a nickel was raw like beefsteak for three months, and he would cry out when I bathed the parts that were sore and broken out. I gave him three months' treatment from a good doctor, but at the end of that time the child was no better. Then my doctor recommended Cuticura. After using a cake of Cuticura Soap, a third of a box of Cuticura Ointment, and half a bottle of Cuticura Resolvent he was well and his face was as smooth as any baby's. He is now two years and a half old and no eczema has reappeared. Mrs. M. L. Harris, Alton, Kan., May 14 and June 12, 1907."

The Three Grades of Milk.

A city man took a house in the country for the summer. He sought out a farmer at once, looked over the cows on the farm, found them to his liking, and said:

"My servant will come to you every morning for a quart of milk."

"All right," said the farmer; "it will be eight cents."

"But it must be pure milk, mind," said the city man, "absolutely pure."

"In that case it will cost you ten cents."

"Very good. And you will milk the quart from the cow in my servant's presence?"

"Yes—for 15 cents."—Washington Star.

Sometimes Hard to Tell.

George Elliot says that the expression on a woman's face when she is sewing tells the story of the woman's heart. If she is happy and contented, or possibly slovenly and indifferent, she may smile and look the happiness she either feels or is incapable of feeling. If she has many things to worry her and is possibly planning how to make ten cents do a dollar's worth of good, or if she is naturally a vixen, it will show in her face, so after all it is not safe to predicate as to what her sewing face reveals.

Wanted to Be Sure.

Howard's father is named Harold, and these two names of those so dear to her are often on his mother's lips. Howard had asked to be taught the big prayer at night instead of the childish "Now I lay me." After he had been saying it for a month to his mother's satisfaction, he said to her one night as she was leaving the room:

"Mother, I am not sure I say that prayer just right. Is it Howard be thy name or Harold be thy name?"

Business Genius.

He who can be "all things to all men"—sollicitous of one's patronage, comparatively indifferent to another; who can study his customer's likes and dislikes, and meet them in all their varying, and very often annoying, moods—is he who is going to be most successful. The ability to do this may be described as business genius—and it is perhaps the most rare genius in the world.—Men's Wear.

EDITORIAL NOTES.

It will take more than arnica to heal the wounds which the "big stick" has inflicted on the candidacy of the Peerless Leader.

Why doesn't Emma Goldman persuade Mr. Bryan to go to Australia, too? They both have records they are anxious to get away from.

Snowstorms in Kansas followed quickly on the collapse of the Bryan-Haskell political partnership. In fact, Mr. Bryan will find the weather decidedly chilly all over the Union during the remainder of the campaign.

With Taft and Bryan talking for the deep waterway, with Deneen and Stevenson both endorsing it and asking the voters to support the constitutional amendment, and all the papers in the state giving it their hearty endorsement, why should any one hesitate to stand for it?

Bryan's offer to give his mascot mule to the county showing the largest gain in Democratic votes this fall will not only be a stimulus to the Democratic workers, but will also firmly establish Mr. Bryan's reputation as the village cut-up. But do the people of the United States want such a "comical fellow" for president?

The most important question that will be submitted to the voters at the November election in Illinois is the constitutional amendment, authorizing the Legislature to issue $20,000,000.00 worth of bonds or such portion thereof as is necessary to aid in the construction of that part of the ship canal from Lockport to LaSalle, a distance of sixty-one miles, and to conserve and take over to the state in perpetuity the income from the water power that can be created in the Valley.

The extent to which cholera will rage before being placed under control, in a filthy and insanitary city, is shown by the terrible experience of St. Petersburg. Since the beginning of the recent epidemic on September 8th, the date admitted by officials, there have been 4,931 cases recorded with 1,875 deaths. Throughout Russia, in that time, 15,683 cases with 7,102 deaths have been reported. In view of the known laxity and secretiveness of Russian health officials, it is to be presumed that both cases and deaths have been much underestimated. The immunity of American cities from epidemics of Asiatic cholera, for several decades, is attributable to modern systems of waterworks and the sanitary precautions which have been insisted upon in every city worthy of the name.

Mr. Bryan studiously avoids answering

Mr. Taft's question as to whether he still favors free silver, although last spring, before he was nominated for president, he was not so reticent on the subject. A Columbus, O., man wrote him a letter asking if he had changed his mind since 1896 on the financial question. Mr. Bryan wrote in reply that he was right in 1896, and that if conditions should even again become the same as they were then the demand for the restoration of bimetalism would be the same. The curious thing about the matter was that Mr. Bryan marked the letter "personal," and has since refused permission to have it made public. The substance of his answer came out when attempts were made, in later correspondence, to have him reconsider his decision and permit his correspondent to give the letter to the press. Mr. Bryan laid down the unique rule that a candidate should never discuss issues not specifically mentioned in the platform on which he was running—a very convenient arrangement for dodging awkward questions.

The wholesome, harmless green leaves and tender stems of a lung healing mountainous shrub, give to Dr. Shoop's Cough Remedy its curative properties. Most Glorious Task.

For a man to exert his powers in doing good so far as he can is a most glorious task.—Sophocles.

PAIN

Pain in the head—pain anywhere, has its cause. Pain is congestion, pain is blood pressure—nothing else usually. At least, so says Dr. Shoop, and to prove it he has created a little pink tablet. That tablet—called Dr. Shoop's Headache Tablets—coaxes blood pressure away from pain centers, its effect is charming, pleasantly delightful. Gently though safely, it surely equalizes the blood circulation.

If you have a headache, it's blood pressure. If it's painful periods with women, same cause. If you are sleepless, restless, nervous, it's blood congestion—blood pressure. That surely is a certainty, for Dr. Shoop's Headache Tablets stop it in 20 minutes, and the tablets simply distribute the unnatural blood pressure.

Brace your finger, and doesn't it get red, and swell, and pain you? Of course it does. It's congestion, blood pressure. You'll find it where pain is—always. It's simply Common Sense.

We sell at 25 cents, and cheerfully recommend

Had a Close Call.

Mrs. Ada L. Croom, the widely known proprietor of the Croom Hotel, Vaughn, Miss., says: "For several months I suffered with a severe cough, and consumption seemed to have its grip on me, when a friend recommended Dr. King's New Discovery. I began taking it, and three bottles affected a complete cure." The fame of this life saving cough and cold remedy and lung and throat healer is world wide. Sold at J. H. Swan's drug store. 50c and $1.00. Trial bottle free.

"Every right action and true thought sets the seal of its beauty on person and face."—Ruskin.

Kennedy's Laxative Cough Syrup is used nearly everywhere, because it not only heals irritation of the throat and stops the cough, but it drives the cold out of the system through its laxative principle by assuring a free and gentle action of the bowels, and that is the only way to cure a cold. You can't cure it as long as you are constipated. Insist upon Kennedy's Laxative Cough Syrup. Sold by J. H. Swan.

Italian Proverb.

He that is carried down the current catcheth at everything.

Stomach troubles would more quickly disappear if the idea of treating the cause, rather than the effect, would come into practice. A tiny, inside, hidden nerve, says Dr. Shoop, governs and gives strength to the stomach. A branch also goes to the heart, and one to the kidneys. When these "inside nerves" fail, then the organs must falter. Dr. Shoop's Restorative is directed specifically to these failing nerves. Within 48 hours after starting the Restorative treatment patients say they realize a gain. Sold by J. H. Swan.

MANY DIE IN WRECK

HORRIBLE COLLISION OCCURS ON NORTHERN PACIFIC.

SMOKING CAR TELESKOPE

Between Thirty and Forty Passengers Killed and Injured—Bodies of the Victims Shockingly Mangled.

Butte, Mont. — Nineteen persons were killed, 11 seriously injured, several fatally, and about 30 more or less hurt in a collision between passenger train No. 16, known as the east-bound Burlington flyer, and a west-bound freight train at 8:10 o'clock Friday morning at a siding known as Young's Point, about 30 miles west of Billings, on the Northern Pacific railroad.

The passenger, running about 50 miles an hour, crashed into the freight just entering on the siding during a blinding snowstorm, the engineer of the passenger failing to see the signal flag of the brakeman of the freight train in time to avert the collision.

Smoker Is Telescoped. The express car telescoped with the smoker and a majority of the fatalities and injuries were in this car. The express car was raised over the platform of the smoker, the superstructure sweeping the seats and not a passenger in this car escaped death or injury. The other passengers escaped with cuts and bruises.

On the train was the Spokane delegation to the National Irrigation congress at Albuquerque. None of these was injured.

Fireman Ora Babcock jumped and was killed, striking on his head. Milo Holloway, a brakeman of the Billings train, was killed. The scenes around the smoker were horrible, heads, bodies, legs and arms being interwoven with broken seats and equipment. In one place seven bodies were so tightly wedged together that they were only separated with difficulty. It was almost impossible to succor the injured without trampling on the dead.

Partial List of the Dead.

A partial list of the dead follows: Col. Bonson of Utah, John Cawlan, Billings, Mont.; Lon Anderson, Hardy, Mont.; Lorenz A. Stewart, Dean, Mont.; H. C. Goble, Minniston, Ia.; E. L. Eymock, Denver, Col.; D. H. Barnes, Seattle, Wash.; G. M. Kon-sick, Anaconda, Mont.; Ora Babcock, Billings, Mont.; S. Chngdon, Chico Springs, Mont.; Charles E. Johnson, Denver, Col., district passenger agent, Nickel Plate railway; George Battle-rock, Anaconda, Mont.; John Ryan, Cushing, Okla.; Milo Holloway, Billings, Mont.; Schemm, address unknown; two unidentified coal miners, en route from Anaconda, Mont., to Kirby, Wyo.

ABE RAYMER IS ACQUITTED.

Verdict of Not Guilty in First Springfield Riot Case.

Springfield, Ill.—The case of Abe Raymer was given to the jury at 5:40 p. m. Wednesday and court took a recess. At nine o'clock the jury returned a verdict of not guilty. Raymer was as white as a sheet when the jury filed into court. As soon as the verdict was announced, he grasped the hand of each juror and made a speech thanking them.

As this is the first of the riot cases, involving a total of 117 indictments returned by the grand jury, it is considered quite significant. It was proved that Raymer was a member of the mob and the court held that any member of the mob was guilty in the eyes of the law, but the jury acted on the lack of evidence to prove that Raymer actually had a hand in the lynching.

WASHINGTON LIFE IS SOLD.

Pittsburg Syndicate Gets Morton's Old Insurance Company.

New York.—The control of the Washington Life Insurance Company Thursday passed from the hands of Levi P. Morton, Thomas F. Ryan and Harry Payne Whitney, to a Pittsburg syndicate headed by William C. Baldwin, president of the Pittsburg Life and Trust Company.

The deal was completed late Thursday afternoon, and Mr. Baldwin was elected president of the Washington Life Insurance Company to succeed John Tatlock. In retiring from the Washington Life former Gov. Morton severs a connection with the company which has continued for almost 50 years, he having been one of the charter members of the company, one of the oldest in the country.

Steamer Erik Hits Iceberg.

St. Johns, N. F.—With her hull damaged by collision with an iceberg, the steamer Erik, which accompanied the Peary expedition to the north, is reported on her way to this port. The damage to the vessel is said to be all above the waterline.

Rebels' Warehouse Raided.

Tiflis.—A warehouse stocked with arms for the revolutionists has been located in a subterranean passage on the edge of the town. The police who raided the place seized several tons of explosives, stacks and cases of rifles and pistols and 150 primed bombs.

Explosion in Tunnel Kills Five.

Scranton, Pa.—Five men were killed Sunday by an explosion in the Delaware, Lackawanna & Western railroad tunnel at Tobyhanna.

NEW YORK VILLAGE BURNED

FOREST FIRES WIPE OUT LONG LAKE WEST.

Flames in the Adirondacks Beyond Control, Though Hundreds of Men Are Fighting Them.

Utica, N. Y.—Forest fires in the Adirondacks are now reported beyond control of the hundreds of men fighting them. Long Lake West, a village of about 100 inhabitants, is reported burned and communication cut off.

Thirty-six days have now passed without rain, except for two sprinkling showers, and the forests are like tinder, catching fire from the smallest spark. There are probably 50 fires now burning. Prayers are being offered in all the churches. A fire was reported at Saranac Lake Sunday night. It is said a blaze started there in the middle of the village, but was quickly got under control.

Pittsburg, Pa.—The drought of 1908, which has held western Pennsylvania, eastern Ohio and West Virginia in its grasp for more than two months, remains unbroken, each day gradually increasing the seriousness of the unprecedented situation.

Aside from the millions of feet of timber destroyed and the daily loss to manufacturers and farmers, probably the most serious phase of the situation is the threatened disease epidemic. It is feared that when rain does come it will wash great amounts of filth into the already stagnant streams, with the result that disease, especially typhoid fever, will become epidemic.

Milwaukee.—Dispatches to the Sentinel report that forest fires which have been raging in northern Michigan and Wisconsin for some time past, were quenched by the heavy rains of Saturday night and Sunday, and that all danger for the present is removed.

St. Louis.—Rain began falling here at six o'clock Sunday morning and continued all day. The rain has been general throughout Missouri and extends down the Mississippi valley as far as Vicksburg.

Washington.—A telegram was received Thursday from Raymond W. Pullman of the forest service, who is in Minnesota investigating forest fire conditions for the government. He estimates the loss in that state at $5,000,000 to $10,000,000, with the fires still burning. He reports a heavy rain-fall lasting five hours, but says 36 hours of rain are necessary to put out all fires.

ARREST BROWN AND PARTNERS.

New York Detectives Nab Members of Failed Brokerage Firm.

New York.—Detectives from police headquarters appeared in the A. O. Brown & Co. case Friday giving it a sensational turn when they arrested five members of the failed stock exchange firm as they emerged from the federal building, where a hearing into the affairs of the firm has been going on for some days before United States Commissioner Glichrist. A sixth arrest would have been made if sickness had not detained still another member of the firm in a New Jersey hospital, beyond the jurisdiction.

The charge against them was that of grand larceny and it was preferred by a former client of the firm, Miss Helen S. Abernethy of this city, who alleges the loss at their hands of 20 shares of Missouri, Kansas & Texas railway common stock valued at about $600, and 25 shares of United States Steel preferred stock valued at $1,184, on or about August 21 last.

BURIED IN RED-HOT BRICKS.

Tragic Fate of Two Men at Kenmare, North Dakota.

Minot, N. D.—Slowly roasting to death under tons of red-hot bricks, in plain view of their comrades, who were unable to assist them, E. W. Drake, Sr., and Clarence Bailey met a tragic death at Kenmare Wednesday. The big kiln of the Kenmare Brick & Coal Company burst when but ten hours from completion. Drake, who was the manager of the plant, was buried up to his arms in the red-hot pile, and it was not for over 30 minutes that he could be reached by the rescuers. Bailey, the 17-year-old son of a prominent farmer, was completely entombed and was not found for an hour. His body was roasted to a crisp.

Bad Band Is Broken Up.

Winnipeg, Man.—The arrest and conviction Friday at Moose Jaw of Joseph Convery, for horse stealing, of Kid Royal and George Birch in Montana and the sentencing of a fourth named Hofferson, to the North Dakota penitentiary, breaks up a bad band of horse rustlers who have been operating in southern Saskatchewan and adjoining states for some time. They stole hundreds of horses. These were the leaders.

Killed by Exploding Engine.

Milwaukee.—Engineer Fred J. Good was killed and Chris J. Hanson, fireman, and B. N. Taylor, brakeman, were seriously injured by the explosion of a locomotive in the Portage (Wis.) yards Sunday.

American Warships at Apia.

Apia, Samoa, via Auckland, N. Z.—Several of the vessels of the American Pacific fleet, including the cruiser Tennessee, have arrived here, the residents of Apia giving the Americans a hearty greeting.

RUSHING THE SCRAP HERO.

CRASH IN FOG; SINKS SHIP

FALL RIVER LINER COLLIDES WITH VOLUND.

Crew of Latter Craft Is Rescued from Almost Certain Death by Larger Vessel.

New York.—The steamer Commonwealth, newest of the Fall River line's sound steamers, arrived at this port after colliding with and sinking the Norwegian freight steamer Volund in a dense fog off Race Rock, at the eastern entrance of Long Island sound Saturday. The Volund's officers, the captain's wife and crew were rescued and brought here on the Commonwealth. The bow of the Fall River liner was smashed above the water line in the collision, but the damages were not considered serious.

The collision took place as the steamers were feeling their way through a thick fog. As the two vessels came together the captain of the Volund rushed on deck and assisted his wife to climb upon the Commonwealth's bow, which had cut a deep gash into the Volund's side. Three members of the Volund's crew also climbed on board the Commonwealth. The steamers then drifted apart, the boilers of the Volund exploded, and she sank.

While consternation reigned among the passengers on the Commonwealth a volunteer crew of naval men bound from Newport to Washington, commanded by Quartermaster Webber, manned one of the Commonwealth's cutters, while the Commonwealth's crew manned two other cutters and picked up the captain and 11 men from the Volund who were clinging to pieces of wreckage. One member of the Volund's crew was injured, which constituted the only casualty.

BRITISH SHIP IS WRECKED.

Loch Finlas Lost and Twenty of Her Crew Drowned.

Launceston, Tasmania.—The British ship Loch Finlas, from Port Pirie, South Australia, for Callao, was wrecked off Foster Island at daylight Sunday and 20 of the crew of 24 were drowned. The other four men were picked up by a passing steamer.

Foster Island lies a short distance off the northeast coast of Tasmania and it is surrounded by dangerous shoals. Early Sunday the residents of the island observed a large ship in distress. A gale, accompanied by a high sea, was blowing and the vessel soon struck the reef. The crew could be seen trying to lower the boats, when suddenly the boat sank.

Dr. Crossland Arrested.

St. Joseph, Mo.—Dr. J. A. S. Crossland, formerly United States minister to Liberia and a negro political leader of national prominence, was placed under arrest here Sunday on a charge of grand larceny. Dr. Crossland is accused of the wholesale theft of drugs, cigars, etc., from a drug store of this city.

Vanderbilt Divorce Made Absolute.

New York.—Justice Gerard in the supreme court Thursday signed the final decree of absolute divorce in favor of Elsie French Vanderbilt from Alfred Gwyne Vanderbilt on the recommendation of Referee David McClure. The interlocutory decree was granted on May 26.

Launch Sinks; Seven Drown.

Chicago.—Seven men out of a party of eight were drowned in the Calumet river Sunday night when the pleasure launch Lemon struck one of the supports of the Nickel Plate railroad bridge in the river at One Hundred and Twenty-sixth street and, turning over, sank.

King of Roumania Very Ill.

Bucharest, Roumania.—Alarming reports are current regarding the health of King Charles of Roumania, who recently was said to have been suffering from an abdominal affection. A Berlin specialist has been sent for.

Federation of Labor Convention.

Washington.—The call for the twenty-eighth annual convention of the American Federation of Labor has been issued. The convention will assemble in Denver, Monday, November 14.

MANILA SADLY DISAPPOINTED.

Preparations for Entertaining Fleet All Are Wasted.

Manila.—The effect of Secretary of the Navy McCall's order that in view of the presence of cholera in Manila no shore leave was to be granted or visitors from shore allowed on the battleships when the Atlantic fleet arrived, has been largely discounted by the realization Thursday that it would be impossible to cleanse the city before the arrival of the fleet about October 1. People fully realize the necessity of the situation but they are bitterly disappointed at the outcome.

Thousands of dollars have been spent in preparation for the reception and entertainment of the officers and men. The decorations have been practically completed. A program elaborate and novel which represents four months' work by 250 active committeemen had been arranged.

Manila.—The wireless station at Malabanga, in the southern part of the island of Mindanao, reported Monday morning that it was in communication with the Atlantic battleship fleet, but did not ascertain the exact location of the fleet. The Zamboanga wireless station on the island of Mindanao also reported communication with the fleet.

MISPLACED SIGNAL KILLS 14.

Elevated Railroad Collision Takes Place in Berlin.

Berlin.—Two trains on the Berlin elevated railroad were in collision Saturday afternoon. As a result 14 persons are dead, while many sustained injuries.

The accident was caused by a misplaced signal. One of the cars, which was crowded with passengers, was thrown to the street, 40 feet below, and shattered. The greatest mortality was in this car. The police were quickly at the scene and the work of extricating the dead and wounded was begun. Ambulances were summoned and waited close to the scene of the wreck while the injured were brought out. Then each wagon with its suffering passenger hastened away to a hospital.

ARMY TRAGEDY AT MANILA.

Private Kills Lieut. E. J. Bloom and Commits Suicide.

Manila.—A tragedy occurred at Camp Jessman Saturday night which resulted in the death of Lieut. Edward J. Bloom of the Fourth Infantry and Private Suttles, Company N of the same regiment. Suttles for some unknown reason shot Bloom and then cut his own throat. Suttles died immediately but Bloom lingered until Sunday night. An investigation of the affair is being made by the military authorities.

Drowned at Military Camp.

St. Joseph, Mo.—The first accidental death at Camp Everett Peabody, where 5,000 regulars are encamped, occurred Thursday when Private John H. McCaw of Baltimore, Md., Troop M, Fifth cavalry, was drowned in Lake Contrary. He drove his horse into the lake, slipped from its back and started to swim. The horse kicked him on the head and he sank.

Frank Robinson Is Dead.

Cleveland, O.—Frank De Haas Robinson, owner of the St. Louis National League baseball team, street car promoter and capitalist, died suddenly at his home Friday night.

Mr. Robinson was born in Pittsburg but went to Dubuque, Ia., at an early age. A widow and daughter survive him.

Well-Known Banker Dead.

Philadelphia.—The death of James W. Paul, banker and financier of the firm of Drexel & Co., Philadelphia; J. P. Morgan & Co., New York, and Morgan, Harjes Company of Paris, was reported here Friday night from Hot Springs, Va. Mr. Paul, it was stated, died of apoplexy.

Shah Orders New Elections.

Teheran.—The shah Friday issued a manifesto ordering new elections and calling for the convening of the assembly and senate November 14.

AERONAUTS IN PERIL

BALLOON IN PRUSSIA BURSTS HIGH IN THE AIR.

BAG ACTS AS PARACHUTE

Three Successful Aeroplane Flights by Wilbur Wright at Le Mans, France, Two Being with a Passenger.

Dusseldorf, Rhenish Prussia, Germany.—Capt. Von Abercron and Lieut. Von Goltzheim, well-known aeronauts, had a miraculous escape from death Monday afternoon during the course of an ascent in a spherical balloon. Thousands of spectators had gathered to witness the ascent and they were horror-stricken at the accident which occurred high in the air.

On being released from its fastenings the balloon soared almost directly upwards to an altitude of 6,000 feet, when the envelope suddenly ripped open. The gas escaped in streams and the balloon shot downward. The aeronauts swiftly clambered into the network in the desperate hope of avoiding the shock of contact with the ground. After a fall of 2,000 feet, however, the envelope spread out, seemingly in a purely accidental manner, forming a sort of parachute which checked the descent. The balloon then gradually came down, taking an hour and a half to reach the earth, the two men clinging to the ropes and the basket. They suffered no injury except a few scratches. The cause of the accident was the sudden expansion of gas.

Le Mans.—Wilbur Wright, the American aeronaut, made three successful flights Monday evening. On the first flight he was unaccompanied, and remained in the air for one hour, seven minutes, 11 4/5 seconds, covering a distance of about 30 miles.

On the second flight he was accompanied by the aeronaut Tisandier, and he succeeded in beating the record for flight with passengers by remaining up 11 minutes 3 2/5 seconds. His previous flight with a passenger was made on Friday last, when he remained in the air nine minutes 13 1/5 seconds at a height of 50 feet. Count de Lambert was his passenger on the third trip, when he covered about 3 1/2 miles in six minutes and 15 seconds.

FOOTBALL PLAYER BADLY HURT.

Yale Student Kicked in Head and Made Unconscious.

New Haven, Conn.—While playing with the scrub team against the Yale varsity football team on Yale field Monday, Lewis Baker Warren of New York, a member of the class of 1910, Sheffield Scientific school, was kicked on the head and rendered unconscious. He was removed to the gymnasium, where, on recovering consciousness, he became violently insane. He fought with other members of the team for an hour and a half, when he was taken to the Yale infirmary, where he again lapsed into unconsciousness, in which state he still remains.

DIAMOND SPECIAL DITCHED.

Illinois Central Wreck Causes Death of Little Girl.

Springfield, Ill.—Illinois Central's fast Diamond Special, south-bound, ran into an open switch at Divernon, 20 miles south of Springfield, late Monday afternoon. The engine plunged into the ditch and was completely demolished. Engineer A. J. Shell and Fireman Edward Taylor, both of Clinton, Ill., jumped, but both were injured.

Elizabeth McGuire, seven-year-old daughter of Charles McGuire, was playing in the yard near the tracks, when fragments of demolished engine struck and instantly killed her.

WOMAN'S SHOCKING SUICIDE.

Throws Herself Under Train in Presence of New York Crowd.

New York.—In the presence of a crowd of women shoppers waiting for an up-town train at the Fourteenth street station of the Sixth avenue elevated railroad, a well-dressed woman of 26 threw herself in front of a moving train Monday and was so terribly injured that she died a few moments later. The tragic act created almost a panic on the crowded platform. Women ran shrieking toward the exits leading to the street and half a dozen of them fell in a faint.

While the woman's mangled body was still lying on the tracks a priest knelt by it and administered the last rites of the church.

Street Car in Fatal Runaway.

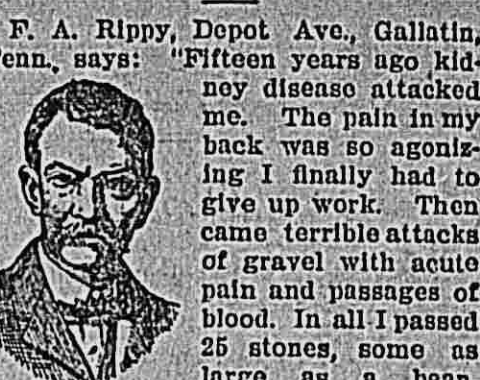

Wheeling, W. Va.—A city railway car got beyond control on Mozart Hill Monday, dashed down the heavy grade, and crashed into a house and telegraph pole. One person was killed and six others injured.

Sister Convents Hewitt's Will.

Elmira, N. Y.—Mrs. Stephen T. Arnot of this city Monday began a contest of the will of her late brother, Frederick C. Hewitt of Owego, who left several millions of dollars to charity and made no mention of Mrs. Arnot. The contest is taken on the general grounds that Mr. Hewitt was not competent to make a will at the time he distributed his property. It is also claimed that undue influence was brought to bear upon him. Mrs. Arnot is the millionaire's nearest relative surviving. She is old and wealthy.

AWFUL GRAVEL ATTACKS.

Cured by Doan's Kidney Pills After Years of Suffering.

F. A. Rippey, Depot Ave., Gallatin, Tenn., says: "Fifteen years ago kidney disease attacked me. The pain in my back was so agonizing I finally had to give up work. Then came terrible attacks of gravel with acute pain and passages of blood. In all I passed 25 stones, some as large as a bean. Nine years of this ran me down to a state of continual weakness and I thought I never would be better until I began using Doan's Kidney Pills. The improvement was rapid, and since using four boxes I am cured and have never had any return of the trouble." Sold by all dealers. 50 cents a box. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, N. Y.

LEFT IT TO MRS. BROWN.

Reverend Gentleman Very Willing to Evade Responsibility.

The trust and dependence which characterized Rev. Mr. Brown's attitude toward his wife's judgment in all practical affairs were sometimes touching, but occasionally they were amusing.

"I'm sorry you've been troubled with the toothache," said the family dentist, when Mr. Brown appeared in his office one day. "I gave you the first minute I had free after receiving your wife's telephone message. Let's see, which tooth is it that's troubling you?"

"M-m, it's not aching just at present," said Mr. Brown, after a moment's hesitation, during which he made a cautious investigation with his tongue. "Didn't Mrs. Brown mention to you which tooth it was? I always rely on her in such matters."—Youth's Companion.

REASON FOR EXERCISING.

"Are you trainin' for a race, Jimmie?"

"Naw, we're goin' to have meat for dinner to-day an' I'm gettin' up an appetite."

His Mind Was Made Up.

It was during a trial in an Alabama city more than 20 years ago that one of the jurors suddenly rose from his seat and precipitately fled from the courtroom. He was arrested in his flight before he had left the building, and brought back.

"What do you mean by running off in that way?" asked the judge, who knew the man to be a simple, honest farmer.

"It's like this, your honor," said the man, earnestly. "When Mr. Hobbs finished talking my mind was all clear, but when Mr. Clayton began I was all confused again, and I said to myself: 'I'd better leave at once, and stay away till he's done,' for to tell the truth, I didn't like the way the argument was going, your honor."—Youth's Companion.

Record of Good Work.

The American board of missions maintains 38 hospitals and twice that number of dispensaries in the foreign field, and its medical missionaries last year treated over 370,000 cases.

This woman says Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound saved her life. Read her letter.

Mrs. T. C. Willadsen, of Manning, Iowa, writes to Mrs. Pinkham:

"I can truly say that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound saved my life, and I cannot express my gratitude to you in words. For years I suffered with the worst forms of female complaints, continually doctoring and spending lots of money for medicine without help. I wrote you for advice, followed it as directed, and took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and it has restored me to perfect health. Had it not been for you I should have been in my grave to-day. I wish every suffering woman would try it."

FACTS FOR SICK WOMEN.

For thirty years Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, made from roots and herbs, has been the standard remedy for female ills, and has positively cured thousands of women who have been troubled with displacements, inflammation, ulceration, fibroid tumors, irregularities, periodic pains, backache, that bearing-down feeling, flatulency, indigestion, dizziness, or nervous prostration. Why don't you try it?

Mrs. Pinkham invites all sick women to write her for advice. She has guided thousands to health. Address, Lynn, Mass.
